Paul's Ponderings...

During the Easter Season liturgical churches like ours hear passages read from the Revelation of John...a most difficult book. The genre is that of apocalyptic literature, a form of biblical narrative based on mystical visions that most often address issues of divine justice. To the great amusement of Jewish scholars who actually understood apocalyptic literature and realized that it was not to be read as predicting future events, many Christian thinkers whipped up a frenzy around the possibility that we might be raptured any minute. Needless to say that this false understanding was magnified in our lifetimes by Hal Lindsey's Late Great Planet Earth as well as the monumentally misguided Left Behind series.

Before all that, theologians and Christian scholars had already come to understand that Revelation had nothing to do with predicting how the world would end. Instead, John's apocalypse was to function as a comforting text for a persecuted church. This book revealed the evils of the Roman Empire and assured Christians that a just and triumphant God would overcome all their pain and suffering. Revelation was, essentially, an extended metaphor of Christ's victory over a sinful world and was never meant to be taken literally.

The Book of Revelation is built around one key metaphor that the Roman Empire is a murderous Beast. The empire was born of violence and all it knows is war. So, don't collaborate with the empire...resist...do not surrender...keep the faith. Revelation depicts the Roman earthly empire at war with the heavenly empire and the violence of divine retribution. Revelation describes God's empire with a throne room and an Emperor Christ leading an imperial, angelic army bent on revenge. God is said to defend the faithful in the exact same way that Caesar defends his empire, and this is where the metaphor breaks down.

One of my favorite theologians, John Dominic Crossan writes, "John's vision is repeated in ever differing images, but with this underlying and reciprocal logic: in the imminent future Christ will slaughter Romans because in the immediate past Rome slaughtered Christians."

Church historian, Diana Butler-Bass says, "This imperial Christ was then interpreted to be literal and Christians responded with crusades and colonization, so the misinterpretation of the Book of Revelation has been the source of enormous violence, suffering, and injustice. Sadly, taking Revelation literally has proved one thing; all empires - including Christian ones - are empires of grief, awash in blood and tears."

Yet, a further reading into John's Revelation shows that the author at some point begins to have misgivings about extending the imperial metaphor to Christ and tries to soften the message with a couple of alternative metaphors. Suddenly, this violent "Christ-Caesar" is depicted as a vulnerable lamb who welcomes all and provides shelter for the persecuted. And, the conquering warrior Christ is now no where to be found and is replaced by the new Jerusalem, said to be "prepared as a bride adorned for her husband." This is a bridal procession and a powerful image of love, joy, and new life. Revelation is a tale of cosmic slaughter that oddly ends with a wedding celebration.

The last chapters of Revelation are some of the most beautiful in all of scripture...the wedding, the garden, and the river of life. But, extending the metaphor of empire to Jesus as a retaliatory warrior and reading that literally and future oriented was one of the worst theological missteps of all time.

My advice...read all the way to the end. Suffering is replaced by joy and love overcomes violence...and that is something to be celebrated.

President's Corner

Good Day,

First off, I want to thank the Mission Team and all the volunteers that participated over many months, sorting, pricing, and selling all the STUFF we sold at the Rummage Sale last month. The $4,000 plus dollars will be well used to support the efforts of the Mission team. We were also able to donate all the unsold items to the Community Thrift Store on Hwy 5. They support a number of community organizations in the county. Great Job Mission Team.

May launched the boards preparation for developing a future growth plan for the Chapel. This effort covers many things including the continued effort to update our Teams, their structures, and job descriptions. Reviewing the Chapel By-Laws so that all the governing policies are current and up to date with the times. Once this project is completed the board will submit the updated By-laws to the community for your approval. We may call on some of you to assist in the project. If any of you would like to volunteer, please contact Susan in the office.

A critical part of this effort is to discover the "Core Values" of the Chapel. In order to move forward and grow, we must first identify the TOP THREE Core Values the Chapel currently exhibits. In other words, what are the three ministries/areas of interest/things the Chapel does well? Basically, who are we? Once we determine those three important Core Values, we can begin to expand our focus and grow. Think of it as a wagon wheel. You must first find the cog of the wheel (3 Core Values), before you can start expanding the wheel outward to move forward. Therefore, the Board will be presenting you with a brief survey (list) asking for your input in helping us identify these values. Your input is very much needed and appreciated.

We have expanded Susan's duties and hours so that she is able to manage the standard bookkeeping for the Chapel. When she is completely up to speed it will simplify the Chapel Treasures responsibility making it easier to enlist a new Chapel Treasure for a term starting in 2023. I want to take this opportunity to thank Sue Barry for her diligent effort managing the Chapel finances for the past two years. Thank you so much Sue.

We are approaching Stewardship Season, one of the most important seasons of the year for the Chapel. We are developing the Stewardship Team as a full-time team to operate all year not just a few months of the year. We are seeking volunteers for this team. Please contact Susan if you are interested so we can provide additional information.

The Nominating Committee is busy interviewing candidates for the open Chapel Board seats for the 2023 rotation. These are critical positions for new thoughts and ideas needed for sharing with the board. This next year will be exciting as we move into our official "Chapel Growth Program."

I want to thank Pastor Paul, all the board members, and every member of the Chapel for your participation in our Chapel community.

We know a lot of graduation, and family get togethers start happening this month as summer is here. If you are away, you can always join us online each Sunday via Zoom. When joining via Zoom look for the bulletin posted on the "Sunday Service via Zoom" page so that you can follow along during the service.

Have a great month, see you Sunday's either in person or via Zoom.

George

Team Updates

Building & Grounds/Finance Teams

Work at the Chapel columbarium area to mitigate water seepage into the basement of the Fellowship Hall has been successful. After installing a third downspout, removing thirty feet of gutter "cover" and re-directing rainwater to the large drain near the Fellowship Hall entrance, Mike Barry reports that basement seepage has been reduced by 95%.

The Building/Grounds Team met on May 4th to review progress on recent projects and discuss Chapel needs in 2023. Attending the meeting were Bart Reuter, Tim & RJ Peppe, Mike Barry, George Norman and Dick Van Horne.

Cemetery Team

Sense we have the well working at the cemetery, we are looking at purchasing a skid of sod and fixing the bare areas of the cemetery.

We are also investigating the cost of a sister columbarium at the cemetery as a future growth project.

We have sold one Niche at the Chapel. We have one upcoming interment at the Cemetery Columbarium in May and one at the Chapel in June.

Work has been completed on the new Columbarium at the Chapel. All of the face stones are in and are silicone-cement sealed until they are occupied.

Mike Barry

Worship Team

Talia Beam will assume Drew Augustiniak's term on the Worship Team.

We held prayer vigil for the people of Ukraine with donations going to Samaritan's Purse and Mercy Chefs.

We had a covered plate lunch on March 27 to celebrate the return of in Chapel services.

Volunteers from the Worship Team helped prepare the Chapel for all Holy Week services.

The Worship Team has officially merged with the Chapel Preparation Team and a schedule has been prepared for preparing the Chapel for all services for the rest of the year.

The Worship hosted a Mothers Day coffee morning dedicated to all mothers.

We received the Board's approval for the return of the Chapel Choir for Sunday services.

Music Ministry

The Choir Spotlight falls on Marilyn McCaskill for the month of June. Thank you, Marilyn, for letting us get to know you better!

Where are you originally from? Asheboro, NC

How did you get to the Seven Lakes community, and/or, The Chapel in the Pines?
I married Jimmy, from Candor, and after Johnathan graduated high school we moved to Seven Lakes. After about a year or two we started at the Chapel. We were originally members at Candor Presbyterian Church. That was eighteen or nineteen years ago.

What was your usual occupation? I have been a Certified Nursing Assistant in the CardioVascular Unit for almost thirty-one years.

What part(s) do you sing? Mostly soprano.

What was your first singing experience? Singing in the choir at my home church, Dogwood Acres Presbyterian Church.

What other singing experience have you had, than church choir? When I was sixteen and seventeen years old, I sang in a quartet called The Redeemers. We sang in churches mostly.

What was your most meaningful singing experience? Singing in the quartet. We went to different denominations. Finding out about their church and their practices. (One scared me to death. I thought they were going to bring out the snakes! That was an experience I will never forget. There is more to this story, but it will take too long to explain.)

Why do you choose to sing in the Chapel Choir? I miss singing. I love the anthems.

What is the best part of being in a choir? The people, and listening to the different harmonies.

What is your favorite style of music?

I love the old quartets from the 60s - the original Chuck Wagon Gang, The Harvesters, The Happy Goodman Family. I love the old hymns and also the Classic Country from the 60s and early 70s, and of course, beach music and Solid Gold Oldies.

What is your favorite song? It Is Well With My Soul

Do you play musical instruments? No.

What other activities do you enjoy? I bowl on a league. I enjoy getting outside, walking, picking up pinecones and sticks, etc.
